

CHAPTER 9

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

With regard to the implementation and monitoring of the mitigation measures associated with the Project, Volume 1 of the Environmental Management Plan spells out the roles and responsibilities of the different parties involved. Appendix H of the Regional Development Plan summarizes these responsibilities in relation to the mitigation of the indirect impacts expected to result from immigration to the region. In brief, the Government of Chad, through the CTNSC and other Government agencies, is ultimately responsible for the mitigation of all indirect human impacts. The responsible agencies are shown in Table 3.

As agreed in the Compensation and Resettlement Plan (see Volume 3 of this EMP), the Consortium will compensate individuals and communities that are either displaced or lose land or crops as a result of the Project. To date, community compensation has included the construction of rural health centers and village schools and will also include improved roads and water supplies in some instances. For the purposes of this report, these are not regarded as measures that will help mitigate the impact of a large immigrant population. They address other impacts that must be mitigated and, therefore, should not be confused with the indirect impacts with which we are concerned here.

Overall coordination of the Government of Chad agencies involved in the implementation of the efforts to mitigate the indirect impact of the Project rests with the CTNSC. Moreover, the CTNSC must also ensure that Project-specific mitigation measures are coordinated with those measures that are the direct responsibility of the Government of Chad
